HSC 1132
NUCLEAR FAMILY

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Nuclear Family (3) (A.A.) An introduction to the interdisciplinary study of marriage, sex and family as it relates to living in today’s society. (Fall, Spring)

PERFORMANCE STANDARDS

The student, at the successful completion of this course, should be able to:

1. Recognize various forms of “family” as they exist today.
2. Demonstrate knowledge of skills necessary in creating positive relationships.
3. Describe the major destroyers of all relationships.
4. Identify the major types of love.
5. Demonstrate knowledge necessary to choose or not to choose parenting.
6. Identify positive parenting skills.
7. Recognize major family stressors and methods of dealing with them.
8. Review with class an area of special interest (related to the course).
9. Identify forms of birth control.
10. Explain the importance of communication with family.

Date of Last Revision: 7/21/06
Date of Last Review: 04/19/02

Perfhsc1132