

IDH 1110: Interdisciplinary Studies in General Education I—Honors

Course Description:

Introduction to process of rational thought and how people have organized processes to define the human and physical universe. Focuses on Greek contributions to process, compares them to modern culture and integrates disciplines of physics, mathematics, language, rhetoric, psychology, and humanities. Honors program permission required. Minimum grade of “C” required to satisfy Gordon rule, and part of the six hour International/Intercultural requirement. (This course satisfies area IV Humanities course, three credits; and ENC 1101-Written Communications I, three credits)

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Understand and interpret texts from different disciplines.
2. Apply different disciplines in analyzing pre-contemporary societies.
3. Analyze and interpret data from a variety of academic sources.
4. Recognize valid academic research sources from different disciplines.
5. Develop college level writing through writing papers, exams, and in-class essays.
6. Apply an interdisciplinary approach to problem-solving.
7. Apply interpersonal skills in collaborative projects.
8. Prepare presentation materials for a capstone project, and develop the verbal skills needed for such a presentation.
9. Demonstrate leadership skills in an academic setting.
10. Fulfill writing requirements as mandated by SBE 6A-10.30, also known as the Gordon Rule